

Start St Paul's Cathedral

In this walk, we're going to be checking out some of the City's historic churches and the amazing art treasures that can be found in them.

Today, there are 42 historic churches within the City of London - all either Grade I or Grade II listed, and they show an incredible amount of architectural and artistic history – with art from famous artists such as Jacob Epstein, Patrick Heron, Damien Hirst, Henry Moore, John Skeaping and Bill Viola.

End St Mary-le-Bow

There's a famous weathervane atop St Nicholas Cole Abbey. Can you spot it? Draw one here!

Dutch Church

Friars, a type of monk, would have been a common sight around here in mediaeval times, before Henry VIII dissolved the monasteries.

You can find another holy sculpture on the wall of Augustine House. It's called St Augustine and is by John Skeaping, who also carved relief crests above each window and the entrance.

Christopher Wren designed so many of London's most magnificent buildings... How many can you visit?
